There should be a tax-free threshold of $20K.
It's an incentive to work, and cuts the bureaucracy of taxing then giving back in benefits

Company income tax is only 16% of the total tax take. Changes should be made to increase this, particularly from multi-national companies

Wealthy individuals and companies have removed money from tax cuts, from our community, rather than re-investing, as Rogernomics promised.

Taxes need to be simple to understand and transparent

We should be following countries like Australia and the UK and ensuring multinationals pay their fair share of tax in New Zealand where people are using their services.
